

INTERBIKE 2008

SARIS POWERTAP ANT+ SPORT HUB UPDATER ($99)

If you're a PowerTap Wireless SL 2.4 owner who turned green upon hearing that Saris made an ANT+ compatible PowerTap last year, be envious no longer. PowerTap now offers updater software that you can install into the hub yourself, making your PowerTap ANT+ compatible.

Saris.com

TIFOSI TYRANT ($60)

Ever the kings of optic value, Tifosi debuts a new race shade optimized for small- to medium-sized faces with an adjustable nosepiece and temple section. Like other Tifosi models, it also comes with three interchangeable lenses. Tifosioptics.com

RUDY PROJECT EXOWIND ($150)

Rudy debuted the new Exowind at Le Tour and now they're available to those outside of the Pro Tour peloton. The bomb-proof lenses can take a crash at 40 mph (too bad your face can't). Rudy offers a variety of lens colors, including crystal-clear photochromic for a $30 up-charge. Rudyproject.com

OAKLEY CUSTOM OPTICS (PRICE VARIES)

Do you like the green-and-gold Radars Craig Alexander wore in Kona? How about the polished aluminum-and-gold pair Carlos Sastre rocked at the Tour? You can have your favorite sunnies—from Radar to Enduring to Flak Jacket—made to order via Oakley's new custom program. Design your dream optics online to match your race kit for a truly pro look, even if you're slow. Oakley.com

LEZYNE MICRO FLOOR DRIVE HP ($40); CARBON 5 ($80)

The polished simplicity of Lezyne made a rumble when it debuted last year. This year engineering takes center stage. This frame-mount pump unfolds into a tiny floor pump with a hose attachment, allowing those who loathe hand pumps a way to fill up without burning out their arms. The ultra-light Carbon 5 is insanely light (55 grams) and has the five basic tools you need on a ride: a Phillips and 3, 4, 5 and 6mm Allen keys. Lezyne.com

NUUN U ($8)

Add flavor and vitamins to your water without overdosing on sugar. Nuun's newest low-calorie tablets are available in three hippie-friendly flavors: lemon chai, goji berry green tea and tangerine ginger. Uhydration.com

